CRIMESolv is a geographic information system specifically tailored for crime analysis and crime mapping. The software interfaces with existing Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) and Records Management Systems (RMS) databases to automatically import data at scheduled intervals, providing departments with the most recent data and reports to analyze.

The system empowers allocation of scarce staffing and predicts crime patterns. The technology can help the department schedule times and areas for patrols and provide shifts with information for ongoing investigations. It may also be used to provide the patrol force a better idea of when and where accidents are occurring.

CrimeStat 2 is a stand-alone spatial statistics program for the analysis of crime incident locations that can interface with most desktop GIS programs. The purpose is to provide supplemental statistical tools to aid law enforcement agencies and criminal justice researchers in their crime mapping efforts. Thus, the underlying philosophy behind CrimeStat is to provide an extension to GIS-based software for the purpose of helping researchers and analysts in their work.

The program inputs incident locations in '.dbf', '.shp', '.dat', or ASCII formats using either spherical or projected coordinates. Also, it can treat zones as pseudo-points (or points with intensities). The program calculates various spatial statistics and writes graphical objects as map features to ArcView ®, ArcGIS ®,, MapInfo ®,, Atlas*GIS TM, Surfer ®, for Windows, ArcView Spatial Analyst ©.

This product is a data mining tool that has a modular design consisting of an associative analysis engine, a graphical user interface and interfaces to virtually all common database formats. Several tasks are supported (e.g., normal queries, profile analysis, extensive graphical report facilities, etc.). The scoring tool, Targas, covers prediction of unknown information such as the possibility of response of a certain customer on some mail action. A module in DataDetective is Looking Glass. It helps the user visualize and analyze the different subgroups in a database.
